

WRITE YOUR THESIS

Training in science writing

You want to write a PhD thesis which shows off your research in its best light and will trigger your jury's interest. For this, you need to pull a complex piece of work together, making it attractive and understandable whilst respecting the rules of thesis dissertation writing. This training course will provide you with a method and all the tools you may need along the way. During this course you will also discover how to apply them to your own research and start writing.

Objectives

- Define your communication objectives
- Structure your dissertation
- Make your results clear
- Streamline your style

Training duration

3 days

Number of participants

Up to 8 people

Audience

Doctoral candidates

Educational resources

Theoretical and methodological background, practice on material brought by participants, group exchanges, exercises

Evaluation procedures

Questionnaire at the beginning and at the end of training (self-evaluation)

Prerequisites

None

Program

Define your communication objectives

- Know the evaluation criteria of a PhD
- Select and organise important information
- Define an explicit title

Structure your dissertation

- Identify the content you want to appear in your document
- Define an overall plan and a more specific plan for a subsection

Make your results clear

- Acquire graphic design rules
- Include quality illustrations

Streamline your style

- Simplify and shorten your sentences
- Improve your written English
- Make the content more dynamic and diversify your language